2017 Norton Cyber Security Insights Report

Global Comparisons

TOP FINDINGS	NETHERLANDS	GLOBAL
Total consumers affected by cybercrime in past year	3.4 million	978 million
Total financial cost of cybercrime in past year	€1.3 billion (USD $1.5 billion)	€146.3 billion (USD $172B)
Total time per consumer lost to cybercrime in past year	5.6 hours	23.6 hours
Percent of consumers affected by cybercrime in past year	26%	44%
Most common cybercrime experienced in the past year	Fell for phishing attack 41%	Malware infection 48%
Percent of cybercrime victims who share the password of at least one online account with others  • Versus non-victims	44% 22%	42% 23%
Cybercrime victims who use the same password across all online accounts • Versus non-victims	14% 10%	20% 16%
Percent of ransomware victims who paid the ransom and did not receive access back to their files	14%	17%
Most costly cybercrime incident for consumers in past year	Fell for phishing attack €1762 (USD $2071)	Identity theft €713 (USD $838)
Percent who believe cybercrime should be treated as a criminal act	82%	81%
<ul> <li>Percent who believe the following acts are sometimes acceptable:</li> <li>Stealing someone else's personally identifiable information</li> <li>Putting software on someone else's device to spy on them</li> <li>Accessing someone else's financial accounts without permission</li> </ul>	9% 13% 13%	15% 20% 15%
Percent of cybercrime victims who gained trust in themselves in the past year to manage their data and personal information	38%	39%
Percent who are concerned information they post on social media may help cybercriminals	54%	72%
Percent who believe law enforcement and internet companies should do more to protect consumers	78%	80%

How We Define Cybercrime

The definition of cybercrime continues to evolve, as avenues open up that allow cybercriminals to target consumers in new ways. Each year, we will evaluate current cybercrime trends and update the report's methodology as needed, to ensure the Norton Cyber Security Insights Report provides an accurate snapshot of the impact of cybercrime as it stands today. In the 2017 Norton Cyber Security Insights Report, a cybercrime is defined as, but not limited to, a number of specific actions, including identity theft, credit card fraud or having your account password compromised. For the purposes of this report, a cybercrime victim is a survey respondent who confirmed one or more of these incidents took place. Visit https://www.symantec.com/about/newsroom/press-kits to learn more.

© 2018 Symantec Corporation. All rights reserved. Symantec, the Checkmark Logo, Norton, and Norton by Symantec are trademarks or registered trademarks of Symantec Corporation or its affiliates in the U.S. and other countries. Other names may be trademarks of their respective owners.